The pupils stopped talking when the teacher entered the classroom. They stood up and say: "Good morning, Madam." She smiled, greeted the students and told them to sit down. There were twenty five pupils in the class. All the pupils watched their teacher. She said: "I am Mrs Shedly. I am your new Maths teacher.

She quickly called the register. When she came to the last name, Kamel, she noticed he was absent. The pupils told her that he is in hospital. They added that he slipped on a banana skin and twisted his leg.
